Learn ● Understand ● Participate

Different units of local governments (townships, boroughs, school district) provide many of the services most essential for our daily life, such as public education, public safety, water and sewer facilities, roads and bridges, parks and playgrounds, public libraries, and other public services. Yet, many residents are not familiar with the organization and operation of our local governments.

The Governor Mifflin Area Citizens Academy is designed to help local residents gain a better understanding of township, borough, and school district governments and how the services provided by these public bodies impact the overall community. The program will address:

- Which public services are provided by our local governments? Which of these services are mandated by the state or federal governments?
- How much do the services cost, i.e., what are the current budgets? What are the primary sources of revenue?
- How are our local units of government organized and what are their functions?
- What are the responsibilities of the elected officials?
- What authority do local officials have in determining which services to provide, and what are their primary sources of authority?
- What opportunities do local residents have to become more involved in the local decision-making process?

Academy participants will enhance their general knowledge of local government operations and be better prepared to become more involved in local affairs. In addition, the Academy will discuss the growing complexity of local issues, changing federal and state laws and regulations that affect the delivery of local services, and the growing interest of local governments in working together to reduce operating costs and address issues that require collaborative efforts.

Academy participants will gain a better understanding of:

- Population growth trends in the region.
- The organization, structure, authority, and responsibilities of local governments.
- The public services provided by boroughs, townships, and school district.
- The major sources of revenue and operating budgets.
- The relationship of local governments to municipal, state and federal governments.
- Opportunities to participate in local affairs.

While the focus of the Academy will be on local governments within the Governor Mifflin area, the program will include general information on other units of local government in Berks County.

The Academy will consist of four sessions from 6:30 – 9:30 PM and will be held in the Governor Mifflin Education Center Board Room, 10 South Waverly Street in Shillington on the following dates:

Session I: Wednesday, April 11, 2012
